Connecting member businesses that want to pay it forward with non-profits, the Corporate Buddy program helps those involved explore all the benefits of Chamber membership. A “buddy system” is formed when an Ames Chamber business member offers to pay half the non-profit level dues while the Non Profit pays the other half of dues fulfillment. This partnership increases the visibility and engagement for both the non-profit and the businesses offering to “pay it forward.” Participants of the program are denoted with an asterisk in the membership and business directories.
On behalf of the citizens of Ames, I want to welcome you to our city, home of Iowa State University. As a city, Ames continues to experience progress and expansion. As we grow, we remain focused on creating a strong community filled with opportunities for all. Let me share with you why Ames is the Smart Choice!

We’ve received many awards for the great things happening in our community. In 2016, Ames ranked No. 3 on Business Insider’s list of “Best College Towns in America.” Our city placed at No. 35 in Livability.com’s “Top 100 Best Places to Live,” and Iowa State University topped the rankings in Money’s “Best College in Iowa.”

Recently, Ames was recognized within Iowa as a Healthy Hometown Founder. This recognition is given to communities demonstrating meaningful health improvement initiatives to increase the quality of life for residents.

These are just a few of the accolades Ames has received that highlight what residents have known for years. This is a community filled with friendly people, beautiful parks, great shopping, progressive schools, exciting cultural and entertainment venues, quality healthcare, and recreational opportunities in every season. We’ve been very busy with ribbon-cutting events on new parks and playgrounds, businesses, and public improvements. The Ames Municipal Airport is undergoing a major renovation project, and the Ames Water Plant’s new, state-of-the-art $75-million water treatment plant will open in 2017.

This is a great time to live, work, play, and visit Ames!

No visit to Ames would be complete without experiencing Iowa State University. The campus boasts large expanses of green space, attractive buildings, and more than 36,000 students. The University brings excitement and vitality to our city and provides cultural and entertainment options typically found only in larger cities.

In addition to winning numerous awards for being a progressive, innovative, and exciting community, Ames has been recognized locally, regionally, nationally, and internationally for our schools, creativity, commitment to the environment, and numerous amenities. Ames and Iowa State together offer an unsurpassed quality of life. We are your Smart Choice!

Best regards,

On behalf of the Ames Chamber of Commerce and Economic Development Commission I am excited to provide you with this information about the numerous opportunities and advantages Ames has to offer. We use the tagline “Smart Choice” because we truly believe that’s what Ames is—the Smart Choice in deciding where to go to school, make a home, begin and advance a career or retire.

Centrally located in America’s heartland on the Interstate 35 corridor, Ames offers many amenities typically found in more urban areas. Rooted in the Cultivation Corridor, Ames is home to Iowa State University, the National Animal Disease Center, a U.S. Department of Energy Laboratory, and numerous companies like 3M, Workiva, Amcor, Barilla, and Danfoss. Ames also is known for its diverse, yet highly stable, economy. Couple this with proximity to Des Moines (35 miles) and other major Midwestern markets, and you can see why Ames is a smart location for global companies to locate successful operations within our community.

Ames is also a smart place to live. A wide variety of affordable housing options are available with hundreds of acres of parks, golf courses, and trails. Numerous culturally diverse events and activities throughout the year create a community that is welcoming and makes time with family and friends extraordinarily enjoyable. Ames also boasts an overall low cost of living and superior schools from kindergarten all the way up to the world-renowned Iowa State University.

With nearly 600 members, the Ames Chamber of Commerce works every day to make Ames a better place to live, work, and do business by strengthening the economic vitality and the quality of life in Ames.

The vibrancy of our community has been recognized and awarded countless times. Here are just a few more reasons why Ames is a Smart Choice.

- “Best Places to Live 2016” (MONEY, 2016)
- #8 “The Top 10 Cities for Career Opportunities in 2016” (SmartAsset, 2016)
- #3 “Best College Towns in America” (Business Insider, 2016)
- #4 “Best Small Cities for Making a Living” (MoneyGreek, 2016)
- #1 Healthiest City in the Country (24/7 Wall St., 2015)
- #8, “Best Cities in America to Get a Job” (Business Insider, 2015)

With the following information, I hope you will see why Ames is the Smart Choice and can imagine living, working, and thriving in our world-class community. We look forward to welcoming you!

The history of Ames dates back more than 150 years. The first American settlers in the area arrived in 1848 and settled near Huxley. Story County became an official county in 1853. Ames as we know it began in 1859, when the Iowa Legislature purchased farmland to create the Iowa Agricultural College and Model Farm. Three years later, President Abraham Lincoln signed the Morrill Act. Iowa was the first state to accept it, and in 1864, Iowa Agricultural College became the first land-grant university in the country. Over the years, the college would become Iowa State University, which in the fall of 2015 had an enrollment of 36,001 students.

The land for the city of Ames was bought from the government by Cynthia Duff, who deeded the land to railroad construction engineer John Blair. Today, Duff Avenue is named in her honor. Blair traveled through the area to determine the best route for the Cedar Rapids & Missouri Valley Railroad. In 1864, he selected an area approximately one mile east of the college and named the new town after his friend, Massachusetts congressman Oakes Ames.

Later that year, Charles Irish drew up the plat for the town. The original boundaries were the railroad on the south, Duff Avenue on the east, Eighth Street on the north and Burnett Avenue to the west. The 12-block town was officially founded in December 1864. The railroad depot was built later that year and Ames started to grow around it.

As the town grew, the population grew with it. When it was founded, the population was about 100, and by the turn of the century, the population was about 2,400. At the same time, almost 1,000 students attended Iowa State College. Ames experienced a large population and growth boom in the early 1900’s. In 1904 a library was built with a $10,000 grant from Andrew Carnegie. Through 1915 and 1916, the Sheldon-Munn Hotel, a new City Hall, the Masonic Building, and Mary Greeley Hospital were built. By 1920, the population had grown to 6,200. Today, the population is estimated to be about 63,000, with about half of the residents being Iowa State students.

As time passed, the city continued to grow as more residents and more businesses made their home here. The first airport opened in 1926. By 1930 the population was over 10,000, including the 5,800 college students. The town, like many, stalled during the Great Depression, but after World War II, it continued its forward progress and soon became the thriving city we enjoy today.

Ames has long been focused on improving the community and being environmentally conscious. Corn ethanol-blended gasolines were available for purchase in the 1930’s. In the 1970’s a trash fueled power plant was built, that is still in use today. The city-wide CyRide bus system debuted that same decade. Today, solar powered trash compactors are found throughout the city and ISU campus, and Mayor Ann Campbell signed the U.S. Mayors’ Climate Protection Agreement. CyRide has 12 hybrid buses, and a few solar-powered bus shelters. Ames is working toward going green.

Recent improvements to the city have included building a $8.5 million water park, with an additional $2 million donated by philanthropists Donald and Ruth Furman. The park features different pools and a 550-foot lazy river. In 2011, a $20 million plan was approved to renovate and expand the Ames Public Library. Renovations took two years, and it reopened in fall 2014. In 2012, voters approved a $56 million plan to build three new elementary schools and renovate two others, which was completed in 2016.
Ames’ local business community continues to thrive. The town is progressive, innovative and exciting, making it an attractive location for new businesses to relocate and existing businesses to expand.

Providing the community with a wealth of highly educated workers is Iowa State University, home to more than 36,000 students from across the globe. The university has a history of world-class research and faculty. The most popular undergraduate programs include mechanical engineering, kinesiology and health and animal science.

Ames is consistently ranked nationally for its economy and workforce. In 2016, SmartAsset ranked Ames as the eighth best city for career opportunities. Ames continuously boasts a lower-than-average unemployment rate.

Ames is home to a diverse set of innovative businesses. Major employers in the area include the Iowa Department of Transportation, Mary Greeley Medical Center, Danfoss, 3M and Workiva. A major incubator for Ames businesses is the Iowa State University Research Park, with the goal of providing a place for technology ventures to prosper in central Iowa.

Serving as the backbone of economic growth in the area is the Ames Economic Development Commission, whose staff is ready to help with site selection, financial incentives and workforce development.

The Ames Economic Development Commission is made up of more than 100 businesses and professionals representing the diverse industries that make up the Ames area. Staff work with the goal of stimulating existing industry, attracting new enterprises and creating a favorable climate for growth.

110 Center Ave. - Ames, IA 50010
Located in the heart of central Iowa, just minutes west of where Interstate 35 (north-south) and US Highway 30 (east-west) intersect, is the growing community of Ames. Being located near major interstates and highways, and just 35 miles north of Iowa’s capital city of Des Moines, makes Ames a convenient place to live, work and visit. It also allows Ames to offer all the features and attractions found in larger cities.

For public transportation needs, the city of Ames offers one of the best transit systems in the country with CYRIDE, the city bus system. CyRide is available due to a partnership involving the City of Ames, Iowa State University and ISU’s Government of the Student Body. CyRide currently operates with 93 buses and serves more than 6.6 million passengers each year. CyRide operates 12 fixed routes, a Dial-A-Ride service for people with a disability, and a late night service called Moonlight Express. CyRide is free to Iowa State University students and children under five years of age. Seniors, K-12 students, persons with disabilities and Medicaid/Medicare cardholders ride for a reduced rate.

The HEART OF IOWA REGIONAL TRANSIT AGENCY (HIRTA) is another public transit service provider for the Iowa Department of Transportation’s region 11, including the central Iowa counties of Boone, Dallas, Jasper, Madison, Marion, Story and Warren. HIRTA offers door to door service to the general public, which allows clients to be picked up at their homes and taken to the location of their choosing, before being returned home. Services may be used for any purpose, including everything from medical appointments to shopping.

EXECUTIVE EXPRESS is a driving service that provides transportation for over 70,000 passengers each year to and from more than 40 Minnesota towns and 25 Iowa communities. Services include airport shuttles, private car services and other courier tasks.

RSVP is a transportation service that provides volunteers to give safe, affordable rides to Story County residents for medical visits.

AMES MUNICIPAL AIRPORT, located south of U.S. Highway 30, provides a 5,700-foot runway to serve more than 30,000 aircraft operations per year, including corporate fleets and small private aircraft. Services include aviation fuel sales, hangar rentals, aircraft rentals, flight instruction, charters, aircraft maintenance and car rentals. It is currently undergoing a facelift and expansion.

The Union Pacific Railroad also runs east-west through Ames.
A wide variety of housing options are available in Ames, no matter if a person is searching for that perfect dream home or just looking to rent a local apartment or condo. Ames offers all residents a type of home that caters to their lifestyle, whether that be a young professional, student or elderly resident looking for a place to retire. With active housing developments being built to create new communities and the classic Victorian style houses being rehabilitated to revitalize historic areas, Ames can offer a variety of housing options to suit an assortment of tastes.

Among the newest developments to offer a place to grow for young families is the DOTSON DRIVE HOUSING DEVELOPMENT by Hunziker Land Development. The unique, cozy subdivision is perfect for a family looking to find a home in a developing family area within the highly developed and growing West Ames. Dotson Drive is convenient for young families due to it’s location being within minutes of both an elementary and middle school. This development is sure to be a hit with families looking to find a home.

Another development that continues to grow in Ames is CAMERON ESTATES. Located just northwest of Ames on Cameron School Road, the development offers large lots in a peaceful, quiet community with all the conveniences of living in the city. Five minutes from Iowa State University and less than 10 minutes from downtown Ames, Gilbert, Boone and all major highways, Cameron Estates, developed by Friedrich Land Development, offers a chance for residents to purchase a lot and build a home that will allow them to stay connected with the community. Work on Cameron Estates continued through the fall of 2016 and with more houses popping up in the area, the development is beginning to truly look like the neighborhood on northern end of Ames that many families would love to call home.

For families looking for a home on the west side of Ames, ESTATES WEST from Hunziker Land Development may be the perfect fit. The development is located north of Lincoln Way on North Dakota Avenue. The neighborhood offers a great view, due to its location at the top of a wooded hill in the area. The larger lots also boast mature trees and room for full walk-out basements, along with being located in close proximity to several schools and commercial comforts, this neighborhood is sure to be a favorite.

Another location developed by Hunziker that offers single-family homes is NORTHRIDGE HEIGHTS. The unique neighborhood consists of both townhome and apartment living for the convenience of its residents. The location offers four scenic ponds, a grocery store, a gas station and a bank, all within walking distance. The neighborhood is conveniently located near a bicycle and pedestrian path, and is part of the Gilbert School District.

With the ever-growing number of students arriving in Ames on a yearly basis, Ames has continued to find ways to increase the number of housing options for students as well. Whether it’s living in Campustown or finding a place to rent throughout the city, the options for student housing will likely grow as more students come into town.

While finding housing for students is always a goal for Ames, the city has also given a great deal of focus to creating comfortable living opportunities for senior citizens in the community. The city of Ames has several retirement communities on the market that are available to cater to the needs of the city’s aging population. VILLAGE COOPERATIVE OF AMES is among those options for senior citizens. The Village Cooperative features 50 homes for active seniors, offering such things as maintenance-free living, along with a community space featuring a meeting room, reading areas, woodworking shop, garden plots and car wash bay. The homes are also equipped with all appliances, including a washer and dryer, in-home storage, walk-in closets and individually controlled HVAC systems.

Also on the list of options for seniors who are looking to stay connected to a community of people while being relaxing with easy living, less worry and great comfort, is the GREEN HILLS RETIREMENT COMMUNITY. The community rests on a beautiful 30-acre campus near Iowa State University, and provides residential and assisted living options, as well as skilled nursing and memory care. The community also provides a safe environment with a mix of state-of-the-art facilities, quality services and attractive amenities. There are 58 condominiums and 80 townhomes in the community, and amenities include restaurant-style dining, entertainment and recreation spaces, browsing and leisure library and barbering services.

NORTHCREST COMMUNITY is one more option for Ames’ seniors. The community offers a variety of services for older adults that include a continuum of life-care services and living options, which promote independence in a nurturing environment. Locally owned, Northcrest offers a physical, social and professional network to inspire active independence. Residents may select from a variety of properties and living arrangement to fit their preferred lifestyle, from townhomes to apartments with a deck or patio. Apartments are arranged in mini-neighborhoods of six, each with its own atrium area of socializing. The mini-neighborhoods connect with each other through glass-enclosed walkways to showcase the beauty of the setting and provide easy access to services.

Ames residents enjoy high-quality, comprehensive health care close to home thanks to a network of providers committed to collaboration and cooperation. At the heart of this network are Mary Greeley Medical Center and McFarland Clinic, which provide health care services throughout central Iowa.

While separate organizations — Mary Greeley is a city-operated non-profit, McFarland is physician-owned — the hospital and clinic have a strong relationship focused on patient-centered care.

The hospital also partners with a number of other nearby providers, including the Doran Clinic for Women, Iowa Heart Center, Wolfe Eye Clinic, Iowa State University Student Health and Ames Foot Clinic.

COORDINATED HEALTH CARE
McFarland and Mary Greeley’s main facilities are literally connected by a hallway. This proximity creates a convenient environment for patients, families and visitors, and contributes to the effective coordination of care. This coordination is further enhanced by an electronic medical record system shared by Mary Greeley and McFarland. The hospital and clinic also partner on the William R. Bliss Cancer Center, which provides a variety of advanced treatment and support services for cancer patients, and a cardiology program, which provides a range of heart care services.

SPECIALTY CARE
McFarland Clinic offers primary care as well as 35 medical specialties. Mary Greeley health care services include obstetrics, cardiac care, diabetes, physical therapy, mental health, home medical and surgery. Mary Greeley also offers home hospice services and the Israel Family Hospice House, which provides compassionate end-of-life care.

HEALTH CARE LEADERS
Mary Greeley, McFarland and Doran Clinic for Women have been leaders in robotic-assisted surgery in Iowa. Robotic-assisted surgery is a noninvasive method that can result in faster healing and less pain for patients. In addition to gynecological, gastric and urological robotic surgery, Mary Greeley was one of the first hospitals in Iowa to include single-site general surgery and thoracic surgery in its robotic-assisted surgery program.

Mary Greeley was founded in 1916 with a gift from Captain Wallace Greeley in memory of his wife, Mary. The hospital has grown with the community and recently completed a $130 million capital improvement project that includes a new six-story patient tower and an expanded emergency department.

The hospital has been nationally recognized for the quality of its services. Several national organizations have awarded the hospital top rankings for patient safety. It has also been named a Top Iowa Workplace. Learn more about Mary Greeley Medical Center at mgmc.org.

McFarland Clinic was founded in 1946 in Ames by three members from the McFarland family and two additional partners. These five physicians believed a multi-specialty group practice offered the best means of providing quality medical care. That remains the philosophy at McFarland Clinic today. More than 200 McFarland providers serve residents in 11 Iowa communities with additional communities served by physician outreach clinics. Learn more about McFarland Clinic at mcfarlandclinic.com.

Iowa State University is the nation’s most student-centered public research university.

With 100 majors, more than 800 student clubs and organizations, thousands of internship and co-op opportunities and 80-some learning communities, the university offers a student experience rich in academic and social diversity.

More than 800 companies recruit students on campus at some of the largest career fairs in the United States, culminating with a 95 percent placement rate for graduates in either employment or graduate school within six months of graduation.

Iowa State, a leading land-grant university, established in 1858, has an international reputation for preparing its more than 36,600 students to apply their knowledge, making its graduates early leaders in business, industry, education and service organizations worldwide.

Numerous academic programs in its colleges of agriculture and life sciences, business, design, engineering, human sciences, liberal arts and sciences and veterinary medicine are ranked among the top 50 by U.S. News and World Report.

The university is one of only 36 public institutions invited to membership in the Association of American Universities and is considered a powerhouse for technology transfer, ranking among the nation’s most prolific research licensing universities. Its Research Park plays a key role in the state’s central Iowa Cultivation Corridor that focuses on growing agbioscience and ag technology clusters. Extension and Outreach programs across the state make it a leader in entrepreneurial programming. Iowa State is the birthplace of the Atanasoff-Berry Computer, the world’s first electronic digital computer that started the modern computer age; C6, the first six-sided virtual reality facility; and is home to Dan Shechtman, recipient of the 2011 Nobel Prize in Chemistry.

Its campus is ranked among the most beautiful, with a public art collection that is among the largest of any public university in the nation. Its town/gown relationship with the Ames community is the envy of its university peers across the United States and Ames is one of the most highly ranked communities for college students. More information at www.iastate.edu.
Since 1966, DMACC has been a source of life-improving education for tens of thousands of Iowans with career aspirations ranging from building trades to biosciences.

DMACC is Iowa’s most affordable college. But its core strength is academic quality and diversity. Today, DMACC has credit enrollment of 37,000 students and offers 222 certificates, diplomas, and degree courses.

DMACC empowers students to choose from occupations that require only a few months of training to those such as physician, pharmacist and lawyer that require advanced degrees.

DMACC’s career and technical programs are led by knowledgeable professors who have real-world experience. Students learn using the latest in technology, tools, and facilities with abundant internship opportunities and other on-the-job experiences. DMACC career and technical graduates are in high demand throughout Central Iowa.

The majority of DMACC students are pursuing a two-year Liberal Arts and Sciences degree that will allow them to transfer to virtually any four-year college or university in the world to complete their bachelor’s degree.

Overall, 95 percent of all DMACC graduates stay in Iowa, helping power virtually every sector of our vibrant and diverse economy.

DMACC has also put the power of education within reach of a broader group of students by making tuition affordable.

In an era of spiraling student debt, the cost of attending DMACC remains the lowest of any college or university in Iowa, some 50% less than the cost of attending a four-year public university.

DMACC’s six campuses—Ankeny, Boone, Carroll, Des Moines Urban, Newton, and West Des Moines—serve a 6,560-square mile, 22-county area in Iowa. These campuses—along with three major learning centers and hundreds of online courses—make DMACC the most flexible education option in Iowa.

Diversity, affordability, quality, flexibility—plus modern on-campus amenities including housing, student clubs and recreation facilities—make DMACC a smart place to start, no matter where your career interests lie.
No matter what you’re craving, Ames has a great restaurant to match it, with many locally and franchise-owned restaurants across the city.

For great barbecue, HICKORY PARK is the place to go. As one of the oldest and largest family-owned restaurants in town, Hickory Park has become an attraction for both Ames residents and visitors. It has an expansive menu, including old-fashioned parlor sundaes.

For a fresh deli sandwich, visit Downtown Deli or DEPOT DELI & COOKIES, ETC. in downtown Ames, or venture west of ISU’s campus for West Street Deli.

For those looking for fine dining, Ames has plenty of options. The Somerset area in north Ames features THE CAFé, which offers adventurous combinations on an ever-rotating seasonal menu with an emphasis on obtaining food from local farmers and purveyors. The Somerset neighborhood also offers +39, which has a menu of seasonal Italian fare. Across the street sits BRICK CITY GRILL, which features several burgers, appetizers and more. Also popular in Somerset are WALLABY’S, which has a rooftop bar, and SALT & PRETZEL.

In south Ames, FUJI is a Japanese steakhouse that offers a sushi bar as well as hibachi-style cooking created while you watch. Those looking for English or Irish cuisine can find it nearby at MUCKY DUCK PUB and DUBLIN BAY.

In the downtown area, AUNT MAUDE’S, OLDE MAIN BREWING COMPANY, LONDON UNDERGROUND, Whiskey River and BAR LA TOSCA are popular spots.

But no campus town would be complete without a wide variety of tasty pizza joints, and Ames does not disappoint. On Main Street, GREAT PLAINS SAUCE & DOUGH COMPANY provides a legendary, hearty pizza, while Campustown offers JEFF’S PIZZA, Blaze, Smokey Oak and PIZZA PIT. To the north are GE-ANGELO’S and PIZZA RANCH. To the south, you’ll find Vesuvius Wood-Fired and Old Chicago.

Ames also has a variety of global cuisines. For Mexican food, LOS ALTOS, MR. BURRITO, two El Azteca restaurants, FUZZY’S TACO SHOP and the Fighting Burrito are among the many possibilities. Trio offers Indonesian and Chinese food. Taste Place, Mandarin and 888 Restaurant are all popular Chinese restaurants. Café Beaudelaire offers a Brazilian menu, and Thai Kitchen and THE SPICE both serve Thai food.

On the franchise front, Ames residents can have their pick of popular spots like TEXAS ROADHOUSE, BUFFALO WILD WINGS, HuHot Mongolian Grill, Red Lobster, Panda Express, CHICK-FIL-A, CULVER’S and Applebee’s.

For breakfast, a locally-owned favorite is the Grove Cafe on Main Street, while Perkin’s, Village Inn, Dunkin’ Donuts, the DUTCH OVEN BAKERY, THE CAFé, +39, two Hy-Vee locations, Tropical Smoothie Cafe and Panera Bread also draw morning crowds.

Coffee shops are also another staple of Ames, complete with both local and franchise businesses. Downtown stops include CAFE DIEM and Vinyl Cafe, but coffee fans can also visit Café Milo, STOMPING GROUNDS, ARCADIO, Morning Bell Coffee Roasters and BURGIE’S. For those looking for the STARBUCKS franchise, Ames offers both a downtown and a Campustown location. Tea drinkers can find their beverage at any number of local coffee shops, but at LITTLE WOODS HERBS & TEAS it’s the main beverage.

Ames and Iowa State University offer the community a wide range of entertainment options. Several venues across the city offer music, theater and artistic experiences throughout the year for residents of all ages.

IOWA STATE CENTER

Since debuting in 1969, Stephens Auditorium provides the Ames community with a wide variety of arts. Throughout the year, the 2,747-seat venue hosts a schedule of Broadway productions, concerts, comedians and other performances.

With 450 seats, Fisher Theater provides audiences with an intimate setting for ISU Theatre productions, student operas, musicals and dance productions.

Directly across from Fisher Theater is the Scheiman Building, a 25-room conference facility that includes a 450-seat auditorium and an executive board suite. The venue is ideal for business conferences, corporate events, trade shows and wedding receptions.

Also in the area of the Iowa State Center, but managed by Iowa State Athletics, are Hilton Coliseum and Jack Trice Stadium. Although these venues primarily host ISU athletics like basketball, volleyball, wrestling, gymnastics and football, large concerts are sometimes held at these locations.

REIMAN GARDENS
Located on a 17-acre site at the south entrance to the university, Reiman Gardens is one of the largest public gardens in Iowa. The year-round facility features both indoor and outdoor garden spaces, including a rose garden and an herb garden. There is also a Children’s Garden, Lake Helen, a conservatory complex and the 2,500-square-foot Christina Reiman Butterfly Wing. Reiman Gardens provides a range of workshops, programs and lectures on a variety of garden-related topics as well as concerts, movie nights and other community gatherings.

UNIVERSITY MUSEUMS
Iowa State University features a wide array of museums across campus, each spotlighting artwork in many forms. With more than 2,000 public works of art in its Art On Campus Collection, ISU is home to one of the largest campus public art programs in the country. The pieces are located in numerous places on campus, including buildings, courtyards, open spaces and classrooms.

The Brunnier Art Museum, located in the Iowa State Center’s Scheiman Building, is the state’s only accredited museum emphasizing a decorative arts collection. It is also one of the few museums located within a performing arts and conference complex. The museum was founded in 1975 and has since opened exhibitions featuring mediums such as paintings, sculptures, textiles, carpets, wood, silver and furniture. The museum also provides educational opportunities, such as lectures, receptions, classes, gallery walks and panel discussions.

Morrill Hall serves as the home of the Christian Petersen Art Museum, in honor of the artist who sculpted and taught at ISU from 1934 to 1955. The museum not only features work by Petersen, but also hosts contemporary art exhibitions throughout the year. The hall also features the Lyle and Nancy Campbell Art Gallery on the main floor as well as the Roy and Bobbi Reiman Public Art Studio Gallery on the lower level.

Located near the center of ISU’s campus is the Farm House Museum, a monument to the university’s early history and culture. Built in 1860, the museum started as the first building on campus and has since been named a National Historic Landmark. In 1976, the Farm House became a public museum and students and Ames community members alike are now able to visit the house for a piece of history.

Those walking across campus can also stop for a rest in the Elizabeth and Byron Anderson Sculpture Garden, located outside Morrill Hall. The garden features sculptures, a gathering area, sidewalks and pathways, all accented with perennials, shrubs and flowering trees. Ranging in size and material, the works featured in the garden are often from the American 20th and 21st centuries, displaying a range of modern and contemporary culture.

DOWNTOWN
Ames’ Main Street is a bustling economic and cultural force in the community. The MAIN STREET CULTURAL DISTRICT is a vibrant shopping, dining and entertainment destination in the city’s historic center. It organizes several events downtown each year, including Firefly Country Nights, Foodies and Brew, MusicWalk, ArtWalk, Oktoberfest and Snow Magic Festival.

Downtown also features the OCTAGON CENTER FOR THE ARTS, a nonprofit community art organization that has been a part of Ames since 1966. The center serves more than 30,000 people each year with a range of educational classes and outreach programs, exhibits, a gallery shop and special events such as the downtown Octagon Art Festival each fall.

The ISU College of Design has an extension downtown called DESIGN ON MAIN, which provides a variety of art exhibits and community programs. While the location serves as a workspace for ISU design students, Design on Main also provides a gallery space on the main floor for students, faculty and renowned artists to show their work. Community members can also get involved in activities like knitting circles and workshops throughout the year.

Tucked neatly into the downtown area is BANDSHELL PARK, the city’s first and oldest park. The 100-year-old green space hosts live music each summer, such as Ames on the Half Shell.

In 2013, the Ames Historical Society renovated and expanded its location on Douglas Avenue and Fifth Street, across from the Octagon Center for the Arts. The AMES HISTORY CENTER features a variety of exhibits throughout the year, each displaying a new portion of Ames’ history through photographs and relics collected to document the local history of city government, schools, businesses, organizations, transportation, residents and events.

A variety of sounds can be heard across downtown each summer during the annual MAXIMUM AMES MUSIC FESTIVAL. The festival, which just completed its sixth year, features more than 100 bands, and each performance is held in a downtown venue over the course of the four-day festival. More than 2,000 people attend the all-indoor music festival.

The AMES MAIN STREET FARMERS’ MARKET is a great place to spend a Saturday morning. The weekly market features locally grown produce, baked goods and hand-crafted items. In addition to a range of vendors, the market also provides live entertainment and free children’s activities each week. Located on the 300 and 400 blocks of Main Street in front of Tom Evans Plaza, the market runs from May through October.

CAMPUSTOWN
With nearly 37,000 students enrolled at ISU, the university’s Campustown area thrives throughout the year with hundreds of music performances, lectures, theater productions and cultural activities.

At the center of it all is the MEMORIAL UNION, which features lounges, fast-food restaurants and a student bookstore. But the Union also provides both students and members of the Ames community with hundreds of lectures, movies, expos and more throughout the year. On one end of the Union is the MAINTENANCE SHOP. The venue hosts up to 60 concerts each year, primarily featuring up-and-coming performers as well as student and professional comedy shows, open mic nights and theater productions.

On the other side of the Union is THE WORKSPACE. The art space provides a wide variety of art classes and workshops, which are open to ISU students and Ames community members alike.

Just off campus, several bars and clubs regularly feature live music each summer and the Summerfest celebration is held to showcase Campustown businesses to the Ames community.

West of campus, AMES COMMUNITY THEATER, known as ACTORS, produces six plays or musicals each year. The group welcomes both ISU students and Ames residents to perform in each production.
Ames is a perfect location for recreationally-minded people, with numerous options for outdoor activities not only in the city, but in the surrounding areas as well. The city boasts 37 parks, 55 miles of paths and trails, along with four golf courses, as well as a skate park, aquatic center, city gymnasium, bike trails, dog park, three disc golf courses (one owned and operated by ISU), and the Hunziker Youth Sports Complex. And within these venues, the city offers approximately 150 athletic, aquatic, and wellness programs.

In 2001, Ames voters approved a bond issue to help fund the purchase of 437 acres surrounding and including an abandoned rock quarry in north Ames. This property was developed into Ada Hayden Park, which is centered by a 1.2 billion-gallon reservoir, and includes a fishing dock, a ramp for boats (electric motors only), three miles of hard surface pathway, two miles of crushed-rock paths, restrooms, parking lots, a shelter and a pedestrian bridge.

Apart from recreation, Ada Hayden Lake also serves the community as a secondary water source during drought conditions. To ensure the water’s quality, wetlands were constructed and prairie grasses planted to filter the water.

Those wishing to take a stroll through the woods do not even have to leave the Ames city limits, as woods wind through all parts of the city, with the biggest patch being the Ann Munn Heritage Woods. These 40 acres of natural woodland were acquired by the city in 1992, with walking trails and a creek winding through the trees.

Another urban recreation spot is Bandshell Park, the city’s oldest park, where live music and community events are held each summer. And among the city’s finest and largest parks are Emma McCarthy Lee Park, surrounded by woods, and Brookside Park, running alongside Squaw Creek.

Roosevelt Park was opened in 2015 next to The Roosevelt condominiums, which were converted from the old Roosevelt elementary school. The park consists of a new playground and a small stage for outdoor concerts.

Other new park amenities for 2017 include new playgrounds in Green Briar, Duff, and South River Valley Parks, as well as new sand volleyball courts in Inis Grove Park, and renovated structures with new ramps and rails at the Georgie Tsushima Memorial Skate Park.

For kids, the No. 1 summer destination is the Furman Aquatic Center, which can hold over 1,400 patrons. The center includes a 550-foot lazy river with a waterfall and two 200-foot slides. There is also an eight-lane 50-meter pool complete with a 150-foot drop slide, two basketball hoops, a 3-meter diving platform and 1-meter spring board. The 5,000-square-foot recreational pool includes zero-depth entry, spray features, a large play structure, a children’s slide and a toddler slide.

Ames is also ideal for dog-lovers. The Ames Dog Park is a safe and secure green space for four-legged friends to get some exercise and socialize with their fellow canines.

Those looking for indoor activities during the winter months, can hit up Perfect Games, a 24-lane bowling center, laser tag facility, arcade, sports bar and restaurant.

The Ames surrounding area also has plenty to do for those looking to get out of town, like the High Trestle Trail just a few miles outside of Ames. This 10-foot-wide concrete trail opened in 2011, and runs 25 miles from Ankeny to Woodward. The trail is open to bicycles, walkers, runners and skaters, and is paralleled by a 10- to 15-foot-wide natural surface trail for horseback riding. The most popular attraction on the trail is the half-mile-long High Trestle Trail Bridge, which soars 13 stories over the Des Moines River.

Another attraction located just a few miles outside Ames is Ledges State Park, complete with majestic canyons and bluffs that have made it a major regional attraction for hiking and camping. Ledges officially became one of Iowa’s first state parks in 1924, and the park facilities were constructed of native timber and field stone by the Civilian Conservation Corps in the 1930s.

Not too far from Ledges is Seven Oaks Recreation, a multifaceted facility best known for downhill skiing, snowboarding and snow tubing in the winter. The ski hill consists of 11 runs varying from beginner to expert. However, Seven Oaks also offers year-round activities that include canoeing, kayaking and river tubing on the Des Moines River, paintball, mountain biking and tent camping.

Just north of Ames is McFarland Park, a 200-acre wooded and native prairie ideal for walking, hiking and biking along trails that connect to the Skunk River Greenbelt. Fishing and canoeing are also available.

Everything from unique boutiques to high-quality consignment shops and national department stores make Ames a top shopping destination in Central Iowa. Ames is home to three main retail centers offering consumers a diverse shopping experience.

MAIN STREET
The city’s historic center is a unique and vibrant location for locally-owned shops and restaurants. Shoppers can discover hidden gems along Main Street including vintage home decor, dog-approved baked treats at Treats on a Leash, and one-of-a-kind gift items at Worldly Goods. Downtown Ames is also the hub of signature community events including the farmers’ market, Fourth of July celebrations, Firefly Country Nights and Oktoberfest.

NORTH GRAND MALL
National department stores JCPENNEY, Younkers and Kohl’s are part of the more than 50 stores and restaurants located in the NORTH GRAND MALL area. Located on the north side of town, the North Grand Mall is a single-level shopping center open seven days a week. Major stores in the area include WAL-MART, TJ Maxx, Ace Hardware and Walgreens.

SOUTH DUFF AVENUE
Duff Avenue is an ever-expanding commercial district consisting of a number of locally-owned and chain shopping centers and restaurants. Stores in the area including TARGET, WAL-MART, Best Buy, Books-A-Million, Petco, Dollar Tree, Lowe’s and STAPLES. The area also features the Ames movie theater complex, Cinemark Movies 12, and the restaurant HICKORY PARK, an Ames tradition known for its hickory smoked meats.

GROCERIES
Ames offers a diverse selection of grocery stores, including multiple locations from leading Iowa-based grocery chains: FAREWAY STORES has locations on Burnett Avenue and Stange Road and HY-VEE has two locations on Lincoln Way.

Community-owned WHEATSFIELD CO-OP is an option for those seeking local, natural and certified organic foods, products and services.

Ames is also home to discount supermarket chain Aldi and membership-only retail warehouse SAM’S CLUB.

Several locally-owned grocery stores specialize in offering customers ethnic foods including Pamml Grocery, Ames Asia Market, Viet Oriental Market and UNI-Mart.

Ames big-box stores TARGET and two locations of WAL-MART also offer grocery options.

Ames, Iowa, operates under a Mayor-Council form of government with a professional City Manager. The principle of this type of government is that the Council sets the policy, and the City Manager carries it out. Ames has been governed under this system since 1922.

The City Council is the legislative and policy making body in the Ames municipal government. The Mayor and two Council Members are elected at-large, while the other four Council Members are elected on a ward basis.

The Mayor, with the approval of the Council, appoints members of major policy making boards and commissions of the City. City Council meetings are scheduled on the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month, with special meetings and work sessions conducted as needed. Major responsibilities of the City Council include enacting ordinances, setting property tax levels, approving city service levels and the related budgets, and participating in community development efforts.

In addition to the responsibilities of setting policy for the city, the Ames City Council provides the long-term vision for community and short-term goals to support that vision. Council members channel input from public and other community institutions into City-provided service programs, oversee financial commitments of the City and prioritize spending.

The City Manager provides the overall administrative direction for the City organization in accordance with policies established by the City Council.

Other responsibilities are to ensure that City operations are conducted economically, efficiently and effectively and that City Council and citizen concerns are addressed. The City Manager champions Excellence Through People (ETP), which represents the mindset and values that guide all City of Ames employees. The goals of ETP include providing citizens with exceptional service at the best price and providing employees an enjoyable and stimulating work environment from which personal and professional growth can occur.
STRENGTHEN DOWNTOWN & CAMPUSTOWN
· Explore public/private improvements (e.g., entertainment, parking, housing, amenities) for public/private space in Campustown and Downtown
· Re-examine the parking regulations and fees in the Campustown business district and surrounding neighborhoods
· Evaluate safety for pedestrians crossing Lincoln Way between Campustown and the ISU Campus

PROMOTE ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT
· Extend water and sewer utility lines along Lincoln Way to 590th Street and annex the approximately 1,400 acres reflected in the Central Iowa Water Association buy-out agreement in this corridor
· Analyze current planning and building code approval processes to help decision making be more predictable, more strategic and more timely

EXPAND SUSTAINABILITY EFFORTS
· Facilitate the creation of a community solar project
· Define the City’s role (e.g., codes, incentives) in re-purposing existing buildings

ADDRESS HOUSING NEEDS
· Redevelop the Old Middle School and 6th Street sites for affordable housing
· Review background information regarding affordable housing needs in Ames

PROMOTE A SENSE OF ONE COMMUNITY
· Consider the recommendation from the Iowa State University Student Government and Campustown Action Association to transition from the Student Affairs Commission to a new Campus and Community Commission

STRENGTHEN HUMAN SERVICES
· Develop an outcomes measurement system to assist in determining the City’s funding allocations to human service agencies

ENCOURAGE HEALTHY LIFESTYLES
· Work with the appropriate groups to establish trail connections from the City limits to the Heart of Iowa Trail
· Create a plan to connect our park trail system that will include target dates, funding, and private/public partnerships
· The City Council will participate in activities sponsored by Healthiest Ames

COUNTRY'S BEST CHICKEN AND SALAD BAR

1401 Boston Ave., Ames
As the country faced the energy crisis of the 1970s, Ames stepped ahead of the curve in a way that drew the focus of the nation as a whole. The new direction would go along way in lessening the city’s dependence of fossil fuel, decreasing the use of valuable farmland for landfills and finding a practical use for garbage by embracing a progressive idea of turning trash into electricity.

The Ames Resource Recovery Plant, the nation’s first municipally operated waste-to-energy facility, opened in 1975 and since that time it has been cited in engineering journals, recycling articles and public works publications as a model system.

The concept of using garbage to produce refuse-derived fuel (RDF) for the Ames Power Plant relies on a mechanical separating process to create a combustible product. Municipal solid waste arrives at the facility from communities all around Story County, such as Ames, Cambridge, Colo, Gilbert, Huxley, Kelley, Maxwell, McCallsburg, Nevada, Roland, Slater, Story City and Zearing. The garbage is placed on a tipping floor, a space capable of holding 500 tons of garbage. Upon that platform is where the separation process begins.

From that point, the garbage is placed on conveyors where it moves through the shredders. The then shredded trash moves on to an electromagnet to remove any ferrous metals. Non-ferrous metals are captured and removed as well. After being separated, the garbage is then divided into two separate piles of either burnable refuse-derived fuel or heavier non-burnable material that is rejected from the process. The burnable portion is piped to the Ames Power Plant to be used as RDF.

Although the process rejects very large pieces, glass and wet garbage, the amount of recycling exceeds rates of traditional recycling because almost 70 percent of the waste brought to the facility is reused as fuel or recycled. The RDF supplies 10 percent of the fuel used to generate electricity at the Ames Power Plant. With recent changes at the Ames Power Plant, the plant no longer burns coal to provide energy for the city, instead the plant has made the move to convert to natural gas. Because of that decision, the RDF is not used to supplement that process.

Over nearly four decades, more than 1.5 million tons of waste has been processed into RDF and used at the city’s power plant. Before the switch to natural gas, the RDF program directly replaced 375,000 tons of coal at the Ames Power Plant.

Beginning in 2006, the city initiated a program to recycle glass in an effort to reduce the amount of glass going into the system. The city worked with local grocery stores to place large yellow recycling drop boxes around the city. Since the program began, more than 1,000 tons of glass has been diverted from the landfill. Ames and Story County have the highest recycling rate in the state of Iowa and all you need to do to participate is to throw your garbage away in your garbage can.
Your energy.
Your options.

Your new home is everything you want on the outside. Be sure it’s everything you need on the inside.

A free Home Energy Assessment will identify ways to make your home more comfortable and energy bills more manageable. A certified energy assessor will visit your home and provide a free report on expected energy savings, give estimates on any upgrades and conduct safety checks.

*To qualify, your home must be at least 10 years old.
